Long Island Players Tie for Second Place in Qualifying at Pinehurst.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALE PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 10.—Fully two-thirds of the men and women members of the Winter Golf League of Advertising Interests now assembled at Pinehurst took part in the qualifying rounds or the annual flive day tourna-ment at Pinehurst to-day. A field of 108 men qualified in three thirty-twos and a fourth sixteen on the champion ship course and twenty-two women players qualified in three eights on ment at Pinehurst to-day. A field of 108 men qualified in three thirty-twos and a fourth sixteen on the champion ship course and twenty-two women players qualified in three eights on course No. 1.

R. Murray Purves of the Woodland Golf Club, Auburndale, Mass., won the qualifying medal with a round of 40—41—31 and was followed by W. P. Cleveland of Brooklyn and Clinton Elliott, Jr., of Cherry Valley, who tied for second place at 84. The three leaders played their rounds in a lively rain and Purves's 81 was a mighty good performance under the conditions.

Others who finished in the 80s were C. L. Maxwell of Trenton, 86; Don M. Parker of Garden City, 88; George H. Williams of Arcola, 88, and Lou Hamilton of Garden City, 89. The prizes for the round were awarded as follows:

It was decided that the committees ing for laws to legalize boxing should be as unnecessary as in the cases of base-ball, football and other rough sports. Yet in spite of the fact that boxing as conducted to-day was no more objec-tionable than half a dozen other forms of vigorous sport, it was the only one that was the subject of repressive legis-lation.

Finance—W. A. Tremblay, Joseph Johnston and C. C. Hawkins.

It was decided that the committees would meet at 10 o'clock this morning and report to the general session at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

By far the most interesting proceedings of the day were furnished in the speeches of the delegates during the luncheon. State Senator James Walker presided, and in a witty speech welcomed the representatives. He said the fact that the Governors of so many States had seen fit to appoint delegates was significant of the trend of public

Likely to Vote for Change.

It will be interesting to find just how the clubs view this question of membership, but from what has been heard recently there it should not be difficult to get the 51 per cent. to declare itself for the one class. As it stands now only active clubs have the voting privilege and only active clubs can stage one of the three championships, and this despite Article II, of the constitution of the U. S. G. A., which says that "this association has been formed and exists for the purpose of promoting and conserving throughout the United States the best interests and the true spirit the best interests and the true spirit of the game of golf as embodied in its ancient and honorable traditions."

According to the constitution, "any regularly organized club of good reputation in the United States shall be eligible to election as an allied member," while "any regularly organized club in the United States supporting and maintaining a golf course of at least nine holes, and whose reputation and general policy are in accord with the best traditions and the high ideals of the game, shall be eligible to election as an active at least nine holes before it would think of joining an association, it is obvious that the fine line between active and allied membership must be drawn on the small question of $10, or else because, in the opinion of the powers that be, the club is not one of those whose reputation and general policy are in accord with the best traditions and high ideals of the game. Durland's No. 1 team last night defeated Squadron A, 8½ goals to 5, in the junior handleap polo tournament in Durland's Riding Academy. The Squadron team was handleapped at 7 goals with the opposing team at 6. The first period ended 5 to 2 in favor of the winning trio. The soldier team, aithough outclassed in the opening session, came back strong in the final period. Cook played an exceptionally fast game at back for Squadron A. His direction of strokes was wonder. ul for a junior player. The lineup in the second game Nat Lewis wor from Charles Shongood, 78 to 39. This was a surprise, as the loser had been playing in spiendid form of late. Lewis is a player well adapted to tournament effort, as he seldom plays the wrong shot and hesitates to take chances until shot and hesitates to take chances until fortified with a good lead. His best run was 18, while Shongood could do no better than 8 in one inning.

The final game found Leo Flynn and Al Thomas paired. The former won after a close contest, 71 to 52. With the pink and black still on the table Thomas had a chance to win with one snooker. They battled for several innings until Flynn knocked off the pink, thereby cinching the match.
